

For more than 25 years, I have equipped leaders in over 30 countries. It involved their personal life as well as how to develop their own resources for their church, jobs or companies. Then I met Jim, who has trained and equipped leaders, first in his own church but also has been invited to be a consultant/advisor to other churches, related institutions and corporate businesses. In addition to his own experiences his major source of information and instruction will be from the Wisdom Literature in the Old Testament, but its application will be for today and the future. There is no limit to where Jim with his life and experience will make a difference.
